

Week of 9/2/2019 Operations Update

This week Hurricane Dorian threatened in the Atlantic. While it menaced for most of the week it passed just off the coast on Wednesday 9/4 and had minimal impact. No trap data was collected this week as traps were taken in from the field ahead of the storm.

Rain for the week:

Tide gauge at Bing's Landing:

We conducted a surveillance flight on Friday 9/6/2019 of the saltmarsh areas and found most areas to wet, unsurprisingly, but no cause for concern. Ground crews reported the same.

No adulticide treatments this week.